

I'm a resident of Indiana. Since we have been on the Indiana Telephone Privacy List I feel like we have finally gotten some peace in our lives. We were getting about 10-13 calls a week. Half of them were real humans the other half was silents. To me there is nothing more aggerivating then being in the middle of dinner,or helping your child with his homework ect. The phone rings and interrupts you and no one is there or someone trying to sell you something you don't want in the first place. I have only gotten ONE telemarketing call since the act went into effect. I would like to keep it that way. I think Indiana should be left alone. What we have is working just fine. If I want a credit card, windows,siding or doors I will call them. Thank you
